Witness Attestation and State Requirements

For this Will to be valid, it must be signed following the formalities your state requires — most states require it to be signed in the presence of at least two witnesses who are not beneficiaries, and some allow or require a self-proving affidavit signed before a notary. This template captures a testator and a single witness signature; confirm your state's exact witness count and notarization requirements and add additional witness signature lines before relying on this Will, or have an attorney licensed in your state review it. An improperly witnessed will may be invalid.
