Company: _____

Purpose

Shareholder A and Shareholder B are co-owners of the Company and enter into this Buy-Sell Agreement (this "Agreement") to agree in advance on what happens to a shareholder's equity in the Company if a triggering event described below occurs, so that ownership can pass in an orderly way rather than being contested later.

Triggering Events

This Agreement applies if, with respect to either shareholder, any of the following occurs: death, permanent disability preventing the shareholder from participating in the business, a proposed voluntary sale or transfer of the shareholder's equity to a third party, or another event the parties describe below.

If a triggering event occurs, the remaining shareholder (or the Company, if the parties so choose) has the right, but not the obligation, to purchase all or part of the affected shareholder's equity before it may be transferred to anyone else, for the period stated below after notice of the triggering event.

Payment Terms

The purchase price determined above will be paid according to the terms described below — for example, in a lump sum at closing, in installments over a stated period, or funded in whole or part by life or disability insurance proceeds where a triggering event is death or disability.

Insurance Funding

If the parties intend to fund a purchase on death or disability with insurance, the policy details and any obligation to maintain the policy are described below. If no insurance funding is intended, this may be left blank.
